Named To Roosevelt Cabinet

Henry Stimson
In a "coalition cabinet" move, President Roosevelt names Col. Frank Knox of Chicago to the post of U. S. secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson to the post of U. S. secretary of war. Knox was the Republican vice presidential candidate in 1936. Stimson was secretary of state in Herbert Hoover's cabinet in 1928.

Hot Senate Fight Looms On Knox, Stimson Appointments

Republicans Named, Says Roosevelt, In Line With Sentiment for National Solidarity

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—A momentous senate debate on Roosevelt foreign and defense policies was shaping up today amid foreboding over the unexpected appointment of two Republican cabinet members, who were promptly disowned by their party's national committee.

Senate action on the nominations may be delayed until after the Republican convention next week, but the first stormy discussion—pro and con—made it evident that the vote on confirmation will follow a thorough argument over America's course in regard to the European war.

Both Henry L. Stimson, chosen to be secretary of war, and Col. Frank Knox, named secretary of the navy, are in frank agreement with President Roosevelt's program of material aid to the Allies.

To critics who charged that he was setting up a "war cabinet," the chief executive replied in a statement last night: "The appointments to the cabinet are in line with the overwhelming sentiment of the nation for national solidarity in time of world crisis and in behalf of national defense and nothing else."

Woodring Expected It
War Secretary Woodring, whose resignation the President accepted to make way for Stimson, was quoted in Topeka, (Kans.) as having told friends in Topeka recently: "There is a comparatively small clique of international financiers who want the United States to de-

NATION-WIDE REPORT

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 21.—

Republicans assembling for their 1940 national convention veered sharply toward "strong anti-war platform" declarations today after a tumultuous national committee meeting in which they read Henry L. Stimson and Colonel Frank Knox out of the party.

They denounced Herbert Hoover's secretary of state and Alf M. Landon's 1936 running mate as "interventionists" for accepting the posts of war and navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet and said the course the President was following indicated he wanted to lead the country into war.

Heat Third Term Rumor

Meanwhile, the report was widely circulated that Mr. Roosevelt would not run for a third term. It was hinted in Landon's statement in which he spoke highly of the ability and patriotism of Stimson and Knox but said he hoped they had been misled by such third term assurances as might have been given them.

As members of the resolutions sub-committee settled down to drafting a platform—expected to be brief and to follow the general pattern of the Glenn Frank report—the impression was spreading that the anti-war non-intervention declaration would be sharp and direct. The foreign affairs sub-committee, headed by Landon, will start work today.

Landon said he wanted to delay the work to gain more time and allow the world situation to steady a little before the party declared itself.

Legislation Seen As Talking Points for Bricker Campaign

DEMOCRATS FIND NEW WEAPONS

Legislature Adjourns After Completing Emergency Program

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, June 21.—The special session of the legislature undoubtedly added a lot of brass to Gov. John W. Bricker's campaign band, but Democrats insisted today they would spot plenty of sour notes.

Practically every enactment of the session, which adjourned sine die yesterday after completing the Republican administration's seven-point emergency program in 70 hours, could be used as a talking point for Governor Bricker's reelection.

The Democrats, however, intend to use most of them as ammunition against the governor.

For Bricker
Political observers comparing the Bricker assets and liabilities, found on the Republican side of the ledger:

1. Separation of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates from the state ticket. Republicans say that this, preventing Democrats—as well as Republicans—from voting a straight ticket with one stroke of the pencil, will reduce the national administration's influence on the state ticket headed by former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

2. Appropriation of an additional $1,800,000 for poor relief. This may influence some of the relief vote.

3. Appropriation of an extra $2,000,000 (half of it federal funds) to old age pensions. This will finance the addition of at least 14,500 persons to the pension rolls. These additions and their families are expected to be grateful to Governor Bricker.

4. Increase of the maximum pension award from $30 a month to $40, effective Jan. 1, 1941. This fulfills a Bricker campaign promise.

5. Increase of the maximum benefits to the blind from $400 a year to $480.

6. Authorizing local governments to fund relief deficits incurred before Jan. 1, 1940. This is intended to release additional money for relief.

On the Other Side
On the other side of the ledger, the following are interpreted by Democratic leaders as liabilities for Bricker:

1. The ballot separation is described as a Republican confession of weakness. Democrats claim that Bricker, fearful that President Roosevelt may seek reelection and win Ohio in November, separated the ballot to prevent him from carrying Davey and the rest of his ticket into state office. Then, too, if the Republicans nominate an Ohioan for president or vice-president, the split ballot will deprive the G. O. P. state ticket of some of the benefit of his popularity.

2. The Democrats contend the relief appropriation is far from adequate. They sought unsuccessfully to increase it by $2,000,000.

3. The increase in pension funds hardly can be criticized by the Democrats without incurring pensioners' enmity.

4. The $30 to $40 increase in the pension maximum was assailed by Democrats as "grossest deception." They emphasized that the bill carried no funds to finance the increase and asserted there was no positive assurance that the money would be forthcoming next year.

Furthermore, Democratic leaders already have accused Bricker of convening the special session primarily for political purposes and thereby spending the taxpayers' money to promote his reelection.

Sale of Torpedo Boats to Britain Criticized

Announcement by the U. S. navy that 20 high speed submarine chasers and motor torpedo boats originally ordered for the U. S. fleet were to be sold to the British draws a storm of criticism.

The torpedo boats, one of which is pictured, carry four torpedoes, four machine guns in two twin mounts and are capable of 50 miles an hour with full military load.

U. S. Army May Get Electric Machine Gun Just Invented

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, June 21.—A flashless electric machine gun may become available to the United States Army.

A Pittsburgh manufacturing company (Westinghouse) will study the weapon and attempt to perfect it. The gun is the invention of Virgil Rigby of Hull, Tex.

Still in the experimental stage, the gun has a muzzle velocity of 400 feet a second. Experts say it must spit out its bullets at 3,000 feet a second to be effective.

Rigby said the war department had promised to test the gun if a working model of higher power could be made.

B. D. Atwell, Engineer for the Pittsburgh firm's plant here, said the principle of the gun is sound but "it will take a much higher muzzle velocity to make a war weapon of the gun."

Atwell said 44 caliber bullets fired from the inventor's model had the force of pellets from an air rifle.

Magnetic coils jerk the bullets through the gun barrel. The coils may be operated from batteries or from a power line.

Concealed troops with electric machine guns could silently mow down enemy troops, who would find it difficult to spot the machine gunners.

K. of C. and Wives Enjoy Supper, Cards

Knights of Columbus and their wives enjoyed a coverdish supper and card party at the hall last night, another of the series planned for this summer.

Mrs. George Scott, Michael O'Keefe and Herbert Fischer won prizes in the cards.

Announcement was made of the annual Catholic day outing at Peace Valley park near New Waterford Aug. 4. The county-wide all-day event will feature a ball game between the three councils of the uppers part of this district, and the three councils of the lower end, sports in the afternoon and a dance in the evening.

Local knights will entertain others of the counties at a rally here July 1, when pictures taken at the recent state convention will be shown.

Five candidates, who will receive the first degree at the hall here tonight, will be taken to Canton Sunday for second and third degrees.

The local council will be presented its honor roll, signifying it has met all requirements of membership and activities, for council and district, from District Deputy Robert Tubbs at next Monday night's meeting.

Valor Award Issued For Patrol Activities In County

Sergt. M. A. Mock of the district B state highway patrol headquarters at Massillon has been awarded the O. W. Merrill valor award for meritorious service in 1939.

The officer was honored for work in connection with incidents which occurred in Columbiana county and in which he and Salem state patrolmen took part.

Sergt. Mock was honored for his work in halting an attempted hold-up of the East Palestine Eagles club and the capture of John Similuk, accused New York murderer.

The capture of the New York man was made on a farm near Rogers. The East Palestine case occurred when Sergt. Mock, East Palestine's police chief and Salem state patrolmen set a trap for four young bandits. Three of the bandits were killed and a fourth was later captured.

Patrolman Donald H. Cole, 30, formerly stationed here and now at Mansfield, was chosen as runner-up for the award for his assistance in the capture of Similuk.

Flag On Every Home, Is Lisbon J-C Goal

LISBON, June 21.—The local Junior Chamber of Commerce has launched what it is hoped will be a nation-wide campaign for "an American flag on every American home on the Fourth of July."

The Jaycees, assisted by Boy Scouts, will make a survey of every home in Lisbon to determine how many already have flags, and an effort will be made to make flags available to those who have none.

Three Fire Trucks, One's Fit For Use

The Salem fire department has three trucks, but only one actually fit for use.

It was disclosed as Fire Chief Vincent Malloy placed into regular service the only truck he has been able to hold for emergencies.

The truck was the result of the breakdown of the 19-year-old booster pumper. Also quartered at the station is the seldom used "old Robinson" which is at least 24 years of age.

So today the firemen have one good truck and it isn't the most modern piece of fire fighting equipment.

Losers Given Ultimatum In Historic Car

Nazi Chief, In Person, Presents Demand In Compeign Forest of World War Fame; Ceremonies Take 10 Minutes

(By Associated Press)
COMPIEGNE FOREST, France, June 21.—Adolf Hitler reached the highest point of his meteoric career today in historic Compeigne forest when he personally received the French envoys and handed them armistice terms which proclaimed the defeat of France.

The fuhrer chose for the meeting the railway car in which Marshal Foch handed the Germans the 1918 armistice terms.

There at 3:32 p. m. (8:32 a. m., EST) Hitler, flanked by his highest military chieftains and civil officials, faced the four-man French delegation.

The ceremony of presenting the terms lasted only 10 minutes.

German Peace Purposes Outlined

Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, read the preamble outlining in broad strokes the purpose of the peace Hitler and his axis partner, Premier Mussolini, propose to impose.

These envisaged:
1—Cessation of the war in France
2—Guarantees by France to Germany "necessary for continuation of the war against Great Britain."

3—A new European peace to follow in which "wrong" done to Germany by "force" would be righted.

The peace terms Hitler said through Keitel, were not humiliating for France.

When the preamble had been read Hitler stepped down from the historic railway car, saluting stiffly.

The fuhrer's historic visit to Compeigne was conducted with military precision. He arrived at 3:15 p. m. with his top military leaders as well as Rudolf Hess, his deputy for party affairs, and Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop.

The fuhrer surveyed with interest the railway car, which had been moved out of the special building where French had ensnared it at exact spot where it stood when Foch dictated the 1918 armistice terms.

Inside Hitler occupied the same seat that had been occupied by Foch.

As he looked out the railroad car window he could see a nearby marble bust of Foch.

French Phone Terms to Government

When Hitler left the car, a band played "Deutschland Uber Alles" ("Germany Above All") and the Nazi party hymn, the horst wessel song. The French representatives were left behind to consider the terms handed them.

The French officers had been provided a tent for their quarters outside the railway car. Telephone facilities were installed to permit them to call their government.

French and German representatives were seated around a table in the car at the time of the preamble reading, to Hitler's right, in this order:

(German) Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, Von Ribbentrop, (French) Rear Admiral Maurice Athanasie Le Luc, General Charles Huntziger, Leon Noel, General of Aviation Jean Marie Joseph Berget, (German) Hess and Keitel.

The French listened silently while Keitel read.

Then they filed out to their tent to telephone their government.

Hitler reviewed an honor guard outside the car while the band thumped out German anthems, then left Compeigne as swiftly as he had arrived.

When the French delegates entered the old car, Hitler and his staff rose to greet them—in contrast, German officials asserted, to the manner in which the German delegates were greeted in 1918. Then, it was declared, the victorious French did not rise.

Hitler and his staff gave the salute.

ADOLF HITLER SHOULD KNOW

While answers to many puzzles are being sought—the fate of the French fleet, the outcome of Britain's final stand against its enemies, the windup of land action on the continent—suspense is settling most heavily on the final and climactic test of Adolf Hitler's statesmanship.

Of all men who have gained power, Hitler has spent the most breath condemning the very thing he now is expected to do—infliction of humiliating terms on a proud enemy.

Suspense over the kind of settlement France will be given by the two high-riding dictators is generated entirely by apprehension. No one dares hope France will be let off easily.

Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, between them, will not find it in their hearts, unless something entirely unexpected happens, to grant the French peace with honor. But do they remember something?

Do they remember that both of them rose to power on the argument their countries were treated unfairly in the World war settlement, Germany as a loser, Italy as a weak member of the winning side? They capitalized a popular feeling of grievance to regenerate German and Italian nationalism. The World war left both their countries in revolt, with existing political leadership discredited.

Their people were oppressed with a sense of shame and indignity. Germany was stripped of prestige and burdened with shackles which it was to call intolerable. Italy, which had entered the war on the Allied side for loot, was dissatisfied with the attitude of the British and French in bestowing on it less loot than it had been promised.

It was not, Hitler and Mussolini were to cry when the time came, an honorable peace, though it is plain now that they were not motivated by a sense of justice but by opportunism. There is nothing in their alliance in this war to indicate they intend to be half as beneficent as the statesmen they accused of being vengeful and shortsighted at Versailles.

Hitler particularly argued that it was absurd to think a proud people could be sentenced to eternal shame and set out to destroy the Treaty of Versailles piece by piece until Germany had regained its place in the sun. As it appears by hindsight, the Allies themselves made the regeneration of a strong Germany inevitable by peace terms which were to prove intolerable. Will Germany now perform the same service for France?

MORE PROBABILITIES TO BE FACED

France's collapse, though anticipated for many days, is too stupendous a disaster to be comprehended. The task must be left to historians. The whole war situation has become so complex that even those with access to complete information need no longer apologize for inability to keep abreast of it. At such a time men do what needs to be done and let comprehension wait on the future.

There is one probability to be faced immediately, now that France is gone. It is the ultimate collapse of Great Britain. The British intend to carry on the war alone and undoubtedly will do so as long as they are able to resist. Their determination, however, does not alter the probability that British ability to resist on their island will not prevail against Germany's ability to attack from the mainland. Attack will be difficult, but by no means impossible.

Not only is Britain hopelessly outnumbered, but its former disadvantage in equipment is increased enormously by the French surrender and Italy's participation in the war. It may be estimated hopefully that the British will be able to defend their island longer than the Germans expect them to, but even Pollyanna could not envision defenders holding out indefinitely in such circumstances. With no allies left and with none in sight anywhere on the continent the long term certainty is either outright defeat or some attempt to make the best of a bad situation.

This might take the form of a plan whereby the seat of the British empire would be abandoned in favor of a new center of administration, probably in Canada. In this way the British empire could be held together after a fashion and reconstituted on the basis of British tradition and seapower emanating from a focal point in the new world. It would not be the empire of tradition, but the result of a salvage operation in an emergency.

Such a move would bring the war to the American continent, on the assumption that Britain would continue to fight with its navy. The truth of the matter is that the war already has reached this continent; last week a Canadian warship captured an Italian freighter in the St. Lawrence river, and the Graf Spee incident off the coast of South America already had introduced war in that hemisphere.

THE IDEA DIDN'T TAKE

The Republican national convention won't be able to monopolize the country's attention next week. War news is too important to permit that.

But the idea that the Republican convention is, therefore, unimportant and destined to be lost in the shuffle didn't take. It is plain that the convention is going to be vitally important.

The United States is acutely aware of the necessity of mustering its potential strength for defense of its interests in a world subject to violent change. It must perform this task under the best political leadership it can muster. The tragedy of inept, confused leadership in France and Germany has impressed Americans deeply.

They do not intend to let the tragedy be repeated in their country. With the means at hand, they will achieve unity of purpose and action in politics before it is too late. The means at hand are the two major parties.

The Republican convention will nominate the party's strongest possible candidate to stand against whatever candidate is chosen by the Democratic convention. While the national election does not take place until next November, the Republican candidate's ability to express what is in the minds of his countrymen will bear directly on the success of the national defense program. A more alert and critical opposition in Great Britain and France during their period of preparation might have saved those governments from the holocaust which has destroyed one and threatens to destroy the other.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, June 22

THE PREDOMINANT planetary configurations point to this as a day in which very important and progressive objectives may be attained by sound judgment, keen analysis of frustrating factors, prudence, foresight, conservatism and thrift. With asuteness, precaution, well-directed effort in practical lines and with real constructive plans carefully systematized, there should be some sort of achievement of major importance. This in financial, business, political as well as social or professional activities. Any of these ambitions may be jeopardized by extravagance, financial carelessness or subtle intrigue or duplicity. Be vigilant, self-contained and discreet, safeguarding funds.

If It's Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are at the brink of a year of really great opportunity, with a very definite march upon ambitious goals if they will but modify their own tactics and behavior to meet certain impediments or treachery. Very significant openings in both the business and private life are imminent. But it will take sagacity, vigilance, wise manipulation of funds and credit to circumvent fraud, snares, and pitfalls of subtle and sinister character. Be alert to intrigues, tricks, and be cautious with loans and signatures. Avoid extravagance.

A child born on this day may have much talent and capacity for success "in a big way" despite certain undermining forces and factors for defeat. Its extravagant and showy tendencies and want of precaution may make it readily victimized.

How do the "Super-Chubby" Acquire all of that Weight?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THERE IS a lively controversy among specialists on the subject as to whether obesity is due to what they call an endogenous or exogenous factor. This means in plain language, whether people are fat because they eat too much or whether they are fat because they are built that way. Being built that way means the influence of the endocrine glands or some X factor or constitutional tendency that makes them store food.

The argument is not so simple as it sounds. Fat people will tell you tearfully that they do not eat as much as thin people and that they can't reduce by dieting. We know that some ductless gland substances, such as thyroid, will cause people to lose weight even if they maintain the same diet.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The Other Side

On the contrary, we have the evidence of experiments that have been made in different clinics all over the country that if you fix a fat person so he can be on a controlled low diet, which is carefully measured so that he can't cheat, he will lose weight without the use of any ductless gland substances to help.

The most famous case, I think, is the Ann Arbor one where a man who weighed something like 500 pounds was reduced to 187. True, it took two or three years, but there still remains the fact that he did reduce by diet alone. It simply teaches us that fat is removed slowly.

It seems to me convenient to resolve the argument by pointing to an age difference. I think by and large, perhaps with some exceptions, people over the age of 40 are fat because they eat too much and people under the age of 15 are fat on account of some ductless gland disturbance.

Activities Are Reduced

What the middle-aged person does not realize is that his activities are cut down while his appetite and his intake go on. Watch a man of 50 in the same room with a child of 5. For minutes on end, the most strenuous movements of the man of 50 makes will be to blink his eyelids. The child, on the other hand, is a beehive of ceaseless activity. And yet the poor old man's appetite keeps up and he eats enough to stoke a ditchdigger.

A dignified doctor friend of mine had a curious experience, which serves to bear this out. He found himself at the age of 70 suddenly losing weight so that within a few months he had gone down thirty pounds. This caused enough alarm to have himself examined. He found that he had no diabetes, cancer, nor any other disease to account for this. Then he began to think about himself and he remembered that he had no appetite and that this was coincident with the fitting of a new denture. The fact was the denture had taken away his taste for food and he did not eat so much. Result,— he naturally automatically lost weight.

Questions And Answers

N. T. B.—"Could you give me any information on 'breaking the left hand habit'? My baby is two and I'm wondering if it will have any bad effect on him if I continue to place the pencil in his right hand."

Answer—There is some argument about this, but I believe there is enough evidence to say that the attempts to break the left-hand habit should not be made too intensively. It may result in causing the child to stutter. This is denied by some people but I believe it is true. Left-handed people usually have a preponderance of function on a different side of the brain than right-handed persons. They are often left-eyed, left-eared, etc. They function just as well in that way as if they were right-handed and there is no real reason why the habit should be broken.

FILIPINOS FORM RESERVE SQUAD

New Military Organization Similar to American Legion

MANILA — An organization of military reservists, which some political observers describe as having possibilities of being as politically influential as the American Legion in the United States, has been established in the Philippines.

The organization—the Reserve Officers' Legion of the Philippines—was created by an executive order of Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon. At present the organization is composed only of reserve Philippine army officers, but eventually it will embrace graduates of R. O. T. C. courses in colleges and universities, and all reservist graduates of Philippine army training camps.

It was estimated that by 1940, the organization would have a membership of some 25,000 reserve officers and 400,000 reservists. A membership drive is going on throughout the archipelago.

United Action Forecast

Although the constitution of the R. O. L. P. prohibits the legion as an organization or any members representing it from taking part in political campaigns or giving support to political candidates, some political quarters believe it not unlikely that the legion members would vote as an unit on political issues that may affect the legion's status.

These quarters said the American Legion's constitution barred the legion from active participation in politics, but this did not prevent it from exercising tremendous political influence or certain politicians from using the organization for political purposes. They argued that fully organized. The R. O. L. P. could even swing a presidential election.

The Philippine army is strictly barred from politics, but members of the legion, except when on active duty with the army, will have the right to vote.

Patriotic Bonds Strengthened

Col. Simeon de Jesus, assistant chief of staff of the Philippine army and R. O. L. P. adviser, emphatically declared that no political motive whatsoever was behind the organization of the legion. Citing the legion's constitution, he said politics would be taboo in the organization. He said the legion would serve to strengthen the bonds of comradeship among reservists, thus making them better prepared at all times to answer any call to duty.

Quezon's executive order, which created the committee that formulated the plan for organizing the legion, stated that the aim in organizing reservists was to preserve the military, physical, moral and educational benefits of instruction received in training camps and to develop further the reservists' military, physical, moral and social education. "In order that their value to themselves, their families and their country may be enhanced."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—George Wells, owner of a night club here, complained to the chef after sampling the food being served at his place. "If you can do better, why don't you," the chef retorted. Owner Wells now is Chef Wells and he says that dinner business has picked up.

'SHADOW NAMES' ENTER POLITICS

Oklahoma Halts Persons With Popular Names From Filing

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Oklahoma's election officials have called a halt on the "frivolous practice" of candidates filing for offices because their names are similar to those of established politicians or other well known persons.

Oklahoma's ballot two years ago included Mae West, Huey Long, Joe E. Brown, several candidates named Will Rogers and a number of similar and identical names.

The 1940 campaign attracted a list even more confusing.

A new John Lee and a new Elmer Thomas, whose names are identical to those of Oklahoma's two senators, filed for congressman-at-large. Former Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, one of the leading candidates in that race, attracted an opponent named William A. Murray.

Four Will Rogerses filed. Then, Corporation Commissioner A. S. J. Shaw drew A. M. Shaw, A. F. Shaw and L. H. Shaw as opponents.

The election board brought the "shadow name" candidates into a public hearing and inquired into their reasons for entering the races. The board ruled out William A. Murray, Josh Lee, Elmer Thomas and one Will Rogers from the congressman-at-large race.

They three candidates named Shaw withdrew before they were called to appear.

Those eliminated protested against the election board decision because the name of the incumbent congressman-at-large is Will Rogers, a former country school teacher who is seeking a fifth term.

A 58-year-old draftsman, Will Rogers of Oklahoma City, told the election board that he had as much right to run under the name of Will Rogers as did the former country school teacher. The incumbent congressman, however, was permitted to stay on the ballot.

VITAL SUN RAYS TO BE METERED

Northwestern University Prepared To Measure Rays' Intensity

EVANSTON, Ill.—Northwestern university has obtained the first unit in a proposed nation-wide network for measuring the intensity of the sun's ultra-violet rays, vital to the health of people, trees and plants.

The measuring device utilizes a

British Bases in Mediterranean—Axis Eyes Them

This map shows the British bases in the Mediterranean, lifeline to African possessions for several nations. Bombing attacks by Germans and Ital-magnesium-coated nickel disc on which the rays, arriving from any angle, strike up electric current which flows through tiny wires to a meter. Variation in the intensity of the rays striking the disc is reflected in changes in the amount of current recorded on the meter. An automatic camera takes hourly meter readings.

The new type photo-electric cell utilizing the magnesium disc was designed by Dr. Robert J. Cashman, assistant physics professor at Northwestern, in collaboration with Dr. W. W. Coblenz, radiation physicist in the U. S. Bureau of Standards and a member of the council on physical therapy of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Cashman believes the new photoelectric tube, completed after six years' experimentation, is more sensitive to ultra-violet radiation than any cell previously devised. It records certain ultra-violet wave lengths, invisible to the eye, but essential to life.

Physicians regard the measuring experiment with keen interest because of ultra-violet rays' wide usage in therapeutic treatment, their production of vitamin D through chemical reactions, their curative effect on rickets and their effect on living things, enabling them to assimilate chemicals for bones and teeth.

OAKLAND, Calif.—An insurance company is wondering if a camera grows more valuable with age. A $150 camera was first stolen from Mrs. Ruby Miller. Her insurance company reimbursed her $15. They turned it over to an agent of the company. He put it in his car. There another thief stole it. Later the police located it at the same pawn shop, but this time, pawned for $20.

MORE OR SKATING

We read with interest a letter in The Salem News of June 20, signed "A Girl Skater". It certainly is not the desire of any west end resident to interfere with youth's pleasure, but it seems there should be a limit to it.

First, no resident would complain if the skating hours were early enough to permit working men to get their proper rest—say from seven to ten.

Second, even skaters have complained about the loudness of the music and surely some of those loud speakers should be eliminated or the windows kept closed and fans employed to keep air circulating.

Third, after closing, those with automobiles keep up a horn blowing contest lasting from 15 to 30 minutes. This is absolutely unnecessary. After eight months of being "good sports", it has certainly come to a show-down.

Of course, there are good and bad in every crowd, but we find plenty of empty whiskey bottles on our lawns every morning, which doesn't speak so well if they are all minors.

There are babies in this neighborhood trying to sleep, working men having to get up early after laying awake half the night.—MIAMI, Fla.—It was quiet on the shouldn't they have a chance? afternoon shift at police headquarters. Suddenly Chief provided for entertainment of Inspector Forrest E. Nelson, tell our youth outside of a residential sec-of his chair and broke his glasses.

Then, shrubbery in front of the neighborhood, yet horns still and almost smoked the whole force blow and yelling still goes on. What out of the building.

WORKERS' CAMP SELF GOVERNING

Farm Security Administrator Aids Migratory Farmers

BELLE GLADE, Fla.—The problem of self-government faces 128 families of migratory farm workers who recently were removed from living conditions described as comparable to those in the book "Grapes of Wrath" to a new camp of steel and concrete shelters built for them by the Farm Security Administration.

They have tackled the problem by electing a council of nine men, each representing the inhabitants of a group of 14 cabins. Chairman of the council is J. F. Wilson, 50, a native of Kentucky, who first came to Florida in 1929 and has been following vegetable harvests for 10 years.

First major problem to confront the council was what to do about the children, ranging from 6 months to 16 years, who were at the camp during the day with no one to prepare their lunch.

Provide For Children
The councilmen, whose duty it is to administer the camp, decided to hire two women at the camp to prepare balanced noon-meals for the children, a plan that met the approval of all.

Another act of the council was to buy 12 records for the combination radio-phonograph which provides music in the assembly hall. The council appointed a committee of three women, one elderly, one middle-aged and one young, to select the records so they would be "neither all jitterbug nor all classical."

Among ordinances adopted by the council were those requiring that dogs be kept on leashes and chickens in coops, garbage be placed in metal containers provided at each shelter and automobiles limited to a speed of 10 miles an hour on the camp grounds.

Some Own Autos
About 40 families have automobiles, which range from sturdy trucks to dilapidated "flivvers."

The nomadic families, who earn a meager living picking and packing vegetables in the Lake Okechobee region, meanwhile have settled down to routine living in their prefabricated steel shelters. Many of their former dwellings, which were condemned by state health authorities, have been razed.

Many families have decorated their homes with potted plants. Porches are a blaze of color with boxes containing a variety of flowers.

Legion Auxiliary At Columbiana has Program at Park

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 21.—The Ladies auxiliary of the American Legion held its regular meeting at Firestone park Wednesday evening. There were 50 present, guests including members of the G. A. R. circle and mothers and daughters. Mrs. Hazel Maybough of New Philadelphia, tenth district president, gave a very interesting talk and Miss Gloria Martin favored with a vocal solo.

The Wide Awake class of the Grace Reformed church held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Ralph Lower, with Mrs. Selby Hull as associate hostess. Devotions were led by Mrs. Irvin Smith. The meeting was concluded by a buffet lunch. The next meeting will be a breakfast in Firestone park.

Office Group Has Dinner
Miss Mary Louise Smith and her fiancé, Mr. Clyde Harrold, were guests of honor when the office employees of the Commercial Investment Trust company held a dinner in their honor at the Log Cabin, Mill Creek park. After a delicious dinner, which 30 guests enjoyed, the honor guests were presented an automatic toastmaster.

The Odd Fellow's festival, which had been planned to be held at the public square this Saturday night, has been cancelled.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Dewalt and family returned Wednesday from a motor trip to New Mexico. The Young People's class of the Presbyterian church will hold a dinner celebrating its first anniversary on Wednesday evening, June 26. The dinner will be served by mothers of the class members. At a recent meeting of the Ladies auxiliary of the American Legion, Mrs. Russell Beck and Mrs. Norman Prenzner were elected delegates to the state convention to be held at Toledo in August.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—State Director of Employment R. G. Wagner, changed graduation day in California colleges and universities from one of dread to one of joy by announcing "employment opportunities for the qualified job applicant are better now than in many previous years." The state itself has 78 field offices to help the graduates.

Hull Attacks Isolationists, Condemns Tyrannical Nations

(By Associated Press)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, lashing out at what he called "the massed forces of lust for tyrannical power," asserted yesterday there could be "no more dangerous folly" than to think that America's achievements could be preserved by isolation.

Without naming any country or individual by name, Hull declared in an address which concluded Harvard university's 304th year that already "nation after nation has been crushed into surrender, overrun and enslaved by the exercise of brute force combined with fraud and guile."

"And," he continued, "as the dismal darkness descends upon more and more of the earth's surface, as its menacing shadow falls blacker and blacker athwart our continent, the very instinct of self-preservation bids us beware."

The secretary of state said this country had "the power to meet that menace successfully, if we, at this time, face the task which is before us in the same spirit in which former generations of Americans met the crises that confronted them in their times."

"I am supremely confident that we shall not fail," he added.

At the same time, Hull declared his belief that isolation from the rest of the world would be "folly." "Our American history has not been achieved in isolation from the rest of mankind," he asserted.

"It has been a part of a vast movement—in the old world, as well as the new—which has opened new vistas in the destiny of man; which has carried human progress to new and exalted heights; which has, through scientific attainment, which, as never before, has expanded for the human race as a whole the opportunity for freedom of mind and of spirit."

"To this great stream of new ideas, new attainments, new cultural values, we have made our contribution; and we ourselves, in turn, have been nourished by it."

HEALTH EVANGELIST TALKS ON PARASITES

Tells of Insidious Work of Tape Worms that Play Up on the Human System and How to Remove Them

OFFERS REWARD OF $1,000.00

Says He Will Remove Limited Number of Tape Worms Free and Will Pay Big Reward In Any Case If He Fails

The big crowd that witnessed the Bardex Free Minstrels, on the Bliss Co. lot, Franklin and Broadway, last night and heard Health Evangelist Bartok lecture on the subject of tape worms and living creatures that infect the human body, causing distress in health and serious trouble, was amazed at his revelations and horrified at the sight of some of the specimens he had on exhibition.

Explaining the cause and effect of these health-destroying parasites, Mr. Bartok told how many of their victims go on suffering for many years, thinking their trouble some disorder of the stomach, liver and kidneys, only to find that all signs of it disappear as soon as the worm is removed. To demonstrate this, he offered to remove parasites from a limited number of sufferers absolutely free for a short time and urged all persons who have reason to believe themselves afflicted to come to him and take advantage of his offer. He also asked his audience to tell any friends of his offer.

Winding up his interesting talk on this vital subject, Mr. Bartok offered a reward of $1,000 to any person whose tape worms he failed to remove and referred to more than ten thousand that he had already removed without trouble or distress to the patients, naming a number of prominent people he has relieved.

While the fun and entertainment of the minstrels were tempered with the rather serious talk of the Evangelist, everyone had a good time and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent singing and dancing and the witty jokes of the comedians. An entirely new program will be furnished at the show this evening, and together with another interesting talk by Evangelist Bartok. One thing that everyone enjoys is that they can go to it without the bother of "dressing up" and that they can always feel free to bring the babies and the youngsters. It is just one of the wholesome, clean and jolly shows that all the family can enjoy. The show is free to everybody. Starts at 7:30 p. m. This show will be here for 3 weeks.—Adv.

G-MEN LOOK FOR "FIFTH COLUMN"

General Intelligence Unit Spots Suspicious Characters

WASHINGTON—The Federal Bureau of investigation is operating against subversive forces in the United States under near-war-time authority granted by President Roosevelt.

The Chief Executive followed up his proclamation of a national emergency last fall with an order designating the FBI as the clearing house for information concerning espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and violations of the neutrality laws.

G-men ordinarily are constrained in their investigations to actual violations of Federal law, but the additional authority permits them to place under surveillance persons suspected of subversive activity.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau, has established a general intelligence division within the FBI to direct its far-flung activities to preserve the national defense against foreign agents.

Special Inquiries Made
He pointed out that the FBI has conducted special investigations of persons reported as being active in any subversive activity or in movements detrimental to the internal security.

In that connection, he added, the FBI has established a general index, arranged alphabetically and geographically, so that in the event of "any greater emergency" the United States, Federal agents will be able to locate immediately persons who may need to be the subject of further investigation.

Without the Presidential authority, the FBI could not have extended its jurisdiction to maintain surveillance over persons suspected of subversive activities.

Hoover made this clear in a departmental memorandum in 1924, after he had been asked by another bureau to investigate alleged subversive activities of suspected persons.

"In this connection," he wrote, "it is of course, to be remembered that the activities of Communists and other ultra-radicals have not up to the present time constituted a violation of the Federal statutes, and, consequently, the Department of Justice, theoretically, has no right to investigate such activities as there has been no violation of Federal laws."

During a single year, G-men touched approximately 60,000 persons in their investigations. This group comprises only .0004 of 1 per cent of the population.

Obliging Police

DALLAS — Policemen R. T. Whittle and C. W. Cole refused to arrest a drunken husband on his own premises.

The obliging wife dragged him to the sidewalk.

The officers then refused to arrest him because he had been moved to public property against his will.

The wife deposited him in the police car.

The officers reluctantly took him to jail.

APTOS, Cal.—The long arm of the law showed considerable staying power here when Warden Forrest McDermott arrested Harold Welch for killing due out of season. It took McDermott seven months to collect the necessary evidence, Welch pleaded guilty.

U.S. And Mexican Relations Improved As Result Of War

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Closer relations between the United States and Mexico were envisioned in government and diplomatic circles today as a result of European war developments.

Officials cited as evidence President Cardenas' recent expression of sympathy for France and the statements of other Mexican leaders that their country desired to cooperate with its northern neighbor.

Campaign utterances of Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan and Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, candidates in Mexico's presidential election July 7, have likewise been studied with interest here.

General Camacho, candidate of the Cardenas administration, has advocated "an armed stand against any Communist or Fascist move that threatens the principles of democracy." He has promised that, if elected, he would "work for a better understanding with other nations of the Americas."

Seeks United Front
In a recent speech General Almazan called for a united front by Mexico and the United States against both Nazi and Communist elements to protect liberty and the governments of the two nations.

The principal argument between the United States and Mexico in recent years has been over the Mexican seizure of American-owned oil properties.

Unable to sell the output of these properties to the American companies from which they were expropriated, Mexico turned to selling oil on a barter basis to Germany. The outbreak of the European war and the institution of the British blockade closed this market.

Mexico has refused to arbitrate the claims of American oil companies, as Secretary Hull suggested, but in May she reached a settlement with one of the concerns and is now selling oil to it.

Trade between the two countries generally is on the rise. United States exports of merchandise to Mexico totaled $62,016,000 in 1938, increased to $83,177,000 in 1939, and amounted to $39,566,000 in the first four months of this year.

General imports into the United States from Mexico aggregated $49,030,000 in 1938, $56,321,000 in 1939, and $25,745,000 in the first four months of this year.

The United States bought 67.4 per cent of all Mexican exports in 1938 and 57.7 per cent of the imports into Mexico originated in this country.

BARTER URGED IN RUBBER, TIN

Plan Also Called Way To Boost Allied Buying Power

SAN FRANCISCO — With the President's new, big armaments program launched, Dr. George W. Dowrie, professor of finance at the Stanford Graduate School of Business, urges that the United States immediately adopt the policy of taking tin and rubber in payment for whatever the Allies may need from American industry and agriculture.

He declares a triple service will be the result. One will be to prevent the continual hoarding in the United States of the world's gold supply; the second will be to permit the Allies greater purchasing powers, and the third will be a great stimulation of American foreign trade.

Dr. Dowrie points out that the vast resources of tin and rubber which the United States will need for building armament can come largely from the Netherlands Indies, French Indo-China, the Malay States and other British possessions.

Sees Far East Danger

He emphasizes the fact that any serious turn of the war either in Europe or in the Far East might jeopardize America's access to these sources of essential war materials, and that the United States should stock up as rapidly and in the easiest manner possible for the Allies, by taking them in payment for the latter's purchases in this country.

"The purchasing power of the two Allies," Dr. Dowrie said, "is less than it was in 1914-1918 and the huge credits placed at their disposal by the United States and private investors is no longer possible. Nevertheless, with some $4,000,000,000 of gold reserves at home and a like amount in the United States in gold and investments, the Allies still have a long way to go before their ability to buy in our market is seriously curtailed."

Dr. Dowrie points out that the German occupation of Norway, Holland and Belgium has greatly curtailed the American market for agricultural products, and that the Latin American markets also have suffered a sharp decline.

Purchases Held Restricted

On the present basis of paying for all purchases in gold, Dr. Dowrie said that the Allies have restricted virtually all purchases to absolute necessities and these largely to airplanes, machine tools, trucks and other war materials.

He believes that if they were permitted to pay for these with their tin and rubber, it would release a vast amount of gold and foreign exchange to permit other lines of American goods to flow into their normal markets there.

"The war is fast assuming the proportions of its predecessor," he said. "While this will stimulate American business in war supplies, we should never forget the lesson of the last war that an economy pays a stiff price for war-engendered prosperity and a little barter trade of tin and rubber would help all around."

Theater Attractions

Anna Neagle has the starring role in "Irene," musical comedy success of the stage, the film version of which shows at the State tonight and Saturday, with Ray Milland, Alan Marshall, Marsha Hunt, Billie Burke, Roland Young and May Robson in supporting parts.

The delightful story of a little Irish salesgirl who becomes a fashion model, then a phony Irish heiress and the toast of the town when she wears an old gown to a party where he was to have modeled a new creation, is expertly played by the entire cast.

Tuneless melodies that helped to make the stage production a success and a new one by the same composers are featured in the romantic story of Irene O'Dare and the two young society businessmen who found their lives suddenly and hopelessly complicated by her charms.

Miss Neagle accomplishes the difficult feat of turning in a hit performance in the comedy field immediately after her dramatic triumphs as "Nurse Edith Cavell" and "Victoria the Great." Milland follows his recent excellent work in "The Doctor Takes a Wife," with

"Irene," while Marshall does his best work since "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

At the Grand tonight and Saturday is a Hopalong Cassidy western adventure, "Hidden Gold," featuring William Boyd, Russell Hayden and Minor Watson.

PASADENA, Cal. — Dr. Martin Jacobson, director of the California State Association of Chiropractors, advocates as a part of the present rearmament campaign, the creation of a unit of foot specialists in the army and navy medical corps. "In the rush for mechanical preparedness," he declared, "insufficient emphasis is being placed on the feet, organ of human locomotion."

SANITARY TOPS LEAGUE FOE TO STAY UNBEATEN

Scores Fifth Straight Win By Defeating Eagles, 7 to 4

Continuing unbeaten in the first half race of the Class A softball league, the National Sanitary posted its fifth straight victory last evening by spanking the Salem Eagles, 7 to 4, at Centennial park.

Nine errors by the Eagles helped the Sanitary to gain the victory. The score was tied twice, once at 1-1 and again at 3-3, before the Sanitary moved comfortably out in front by scoring two runs in the fifth inning and two in the sixth. The Eagles, after scoring three runs early in the game, were held to one run in the seventh.

Pitcher Dale Ritchie of the Sanitary, earning his fifth win to remain as the leading twirler in the Class A league, allowed the Eagles seven hits. The Sanitary touched up the Eagles for nine hits, including two doubles by Mike Kozar.

Remain Tied
The victory kept the Sanitary tied with the Salem Recreation for the lead in the Class A league's first half race.

Rallying in the late innings, the Salem News came from behind to nose out Roberts Men's Shop, 6 to 5, in the other Class A game.

The News tied the score at 5-5 in the sixth and went on to victory in the seventh when Alden "Buzz" West singled to drive in the winning run.

George McFeeley, pitching for the News, held Roberts to five hits. The Church league lead changed hands as the News edged into the top position with a 10-7 victory over the Methodists, who formerly held first place.

The defeat dropped the Methodists to third place.

St. Paul's Catholic Club took over second position on the strength of an 8-6 victory over the Presbyterians.

GODOY, BEATEN AND BATTERED, STILL HAUGHTY

"I Can Take It," he Claims After Losing to Joe Louis

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, June 21.—Battered into a terrible condition by Joe Louis' left fists and only semi-conscious still, Arturo Godoy of Chile yet was able to lift his ham-burgers features down in the dressing room at Yankee stadium last night and say proudly:

"But I can take it, can't I? Sure, Arturo can take it."

There wasn't much doubt about that, and the crowd gathered around the fallen Chilean told him so. It appeared to make Arturo feel much better. He had been knocked down and out in the eighth round of a fight that was too brutal and bloody to witness with any relish, but he had acquitted himself with courage.

Terrible Punishment
None of the nine other fighting men the big Negro has beaten since he became champion took more punishment than was meted out to Godoy before he finally fell forward on his battered face last night, and was spared further blows by Referee Billy Cavanagh.

In 1 minute and 24 seconds of the eighth Louis had accomplished what he failed to do in 15 rounds against Godoy last February. A crowd of 28,000 got the thrill of the Chilean had been down twice under terrific punishment before Cavanagh stopped it. He was up but out on his feet after taking a count of six when the bell ended the seventh chapter.

Stalks His Prey

Louis, never a man to let his wounded prey escape, tore into the semi-blind Godoy savagely, and in a minute had dropped him for a count of eight. Again the Chilean groped his way erect, only to run into another hurricane of lefts and rights. A final short, sharp right pitched him forward as blood gushed from a long cut over his eye. Cavanagh then stopped it.

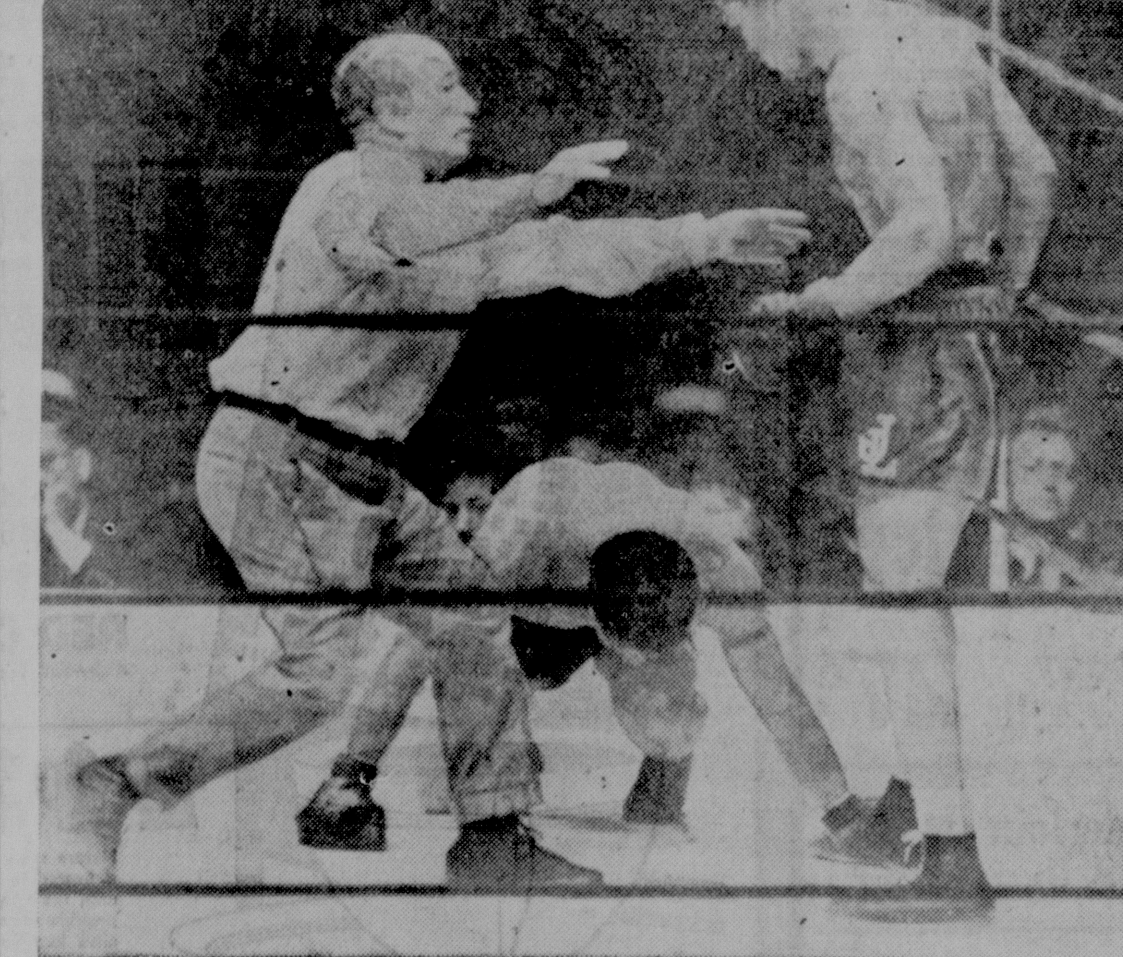

When he realized what had happened Godoy went plunging across the ring to get at Louis and it took five men, including his manager, Al Weill, to calm him down. But it was only a wild, heartbroken gesture. Louis stood calmly and watched, his face still inscrutable.

Louis Beats Godoy In Eighth By Technical K. O.

Detroit's brown bomber, Joe Louis, successfully defended his world's heavyweight title for the 11th time at Yankee stadium, New York City, when he won over Arturo Godoy of Chile by a technical knock-out at 1:24 of the eighth round. Referee Billy Cavanagh is pictured in this dramatic photo as he stepped in to stop the fight while the South American challenger struggled to rise after hitting the canvas for the second time in the final round and the third time in the fight. Louis is being pushed back to a corner.

BROWNS CAUSE UPHEAVAL; WIN SIX STRAIGHT

St. Louis Club Hottest Thing In Baseball Right Now

Baseball's biggest sensation right now is the St. Louis Browns—and you know why.

They have just succeeded in casting the already confused first division of the American league into chaos.

Eventually 1940 may be remembered as the year the mighty New York Yankees folded up like a hinge, but the plight of the world champions and the jostling of their would-be successors is overshadowed today by the achievements of the Browns.

Blast Red Sox

Today the Browns are in fifth place just a game and a half behind the Yankees. They got there yesterday by blasting the Boston Red Sox in both ends of a double-header 2-1 and 11-4 to run their current winning streak to six games.

The Browns now have won 27 a minute had dropped him for a game and lost 30 while last year they didn't get their 27th victory until Aug. 4 by which time they had lost 68.

Given the opening, the Cleveland Indians rode right into the league lead. Bob Feller gave the Washington Senators only four hits, struck out 11 and walked but one in winning 12-1.

The Detroit Tigers were defeated 6-4 by the Philadelphia Athletics as Al Brancato singled with the bases loaded and homered. Hank Greenberg got three hits, including his 12th home run.

Marshal Petain Sadly Tells France Why She Lost Fight

(By Associated Press)
BORDEAUX, France, June 21. — Old Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, France's premier of defeat, sadly told his people yesterday they had lost the fight to Germany because they had "fewer friends" than in 1914-18—"fewer young men, less arms, too few allies."

But he promised, in a radio broadcast, "We will learn our lesson from the lost battle." He blamed defeat on the lush years since the World War victory when "our sense of enjoyment predominated over our sense of sacrifice."

Explains Action

He explained why he had asked for peace.

"I took this decision," the old marshal of the World War declared in a radio broadcast to the nation, "because the military situation failed (to justify) our hopes based on the line of the Somme and the Aisne."

"General (Maxime) Weygand regrouped our armies. His name alone was a promise of victory."

However, the line gave way and enemy pressure forced our troops to retreat.

"On June 13 I asked for an armistice."

Contrasting the last war with this struggle, Petain said that at the beginning of the present battle France had 500,000 fewer troops than the 3,280,000 she had after three years of bloody fighting in the World War.

"In May, 1918," he went on, "we had 85 British divisions; in May, 1940, we had ten."

"In 1918 we had 58 Italian divisions and 42 American divisions with us."

Material Inferior

Here the old marshal paused, and then pointed out that Italy was fighting on the side of Germany and that America was neutral.

"The inferiority of our material," he said, "was even greater than that of our manpower. French aviation had been fighting its battle one against six."

Every people, he added sadly, must know days of success and days of defeat. Then he went on:

"Today France is a witness to sad days. I was with you in your days of glory. I am and will remain with you in your days of sadness."

The French, he said, "do not deny defeat when it stares them in the face. All people have known successes and reverses. It is by their reaction that they show themselves weak or great. We will learn our lesson from the lost battle."

"Since our victory (in the World War) a sense of enjoyment has predominated over the sense of sacrifice. We have sought more than we have given. We have not exerted enough effort. Today we are in distress."

No Hints Are Disclosed On Action Today

(By Associated Press)

BORDEAUX, June 22.—France announced today that her delegates would fly to Italy and discuss terms with the Italians before a general peace arrangement is reached with both of her enemies.

The German armistice negotiations, however, will be concluded first.

A communique said that the cabinet deliberated most of the morning and into the afternoon on the text of the German armistice terms handed yesterday to the French plenipotentiaries in Compiègne forest.

"New cabinet meetings are expected before a general arrangement can be reached," the communique said.

After the German negotiations have been concluded, the announcement added, "French plenipotentiaries will fly to Italy to meet Italian delegates."

"Not until after a discussion with the latter country (Italy) can the government bring a definite judgment on the whole question of double negotiation and make decisions in the best interests of the country."

Details of the German conditions were read to the cabinet last night. The members then adjourned until this morning before starting deliberations.

The government is in constant touch with its armistice delegates by special telephone.

It was reported that separate negotiations between France and Italy are under way. (25 words censored here).

Informed sources pointed out that the decision by France on the German peace terms probably would be announced in simultaneous communiques in the two nations, the Germans perhaps giving the terms and the French the decision.

No pressure has been put on France for a quick reply, these sources said.

Military operations continued on a spotty scale. Marseilles was bombed Friday during a 40-minute raid. An undetermined number of casualties resulted.

Fighting also continued in the Vosges area, where some Maginot line troops are attempting to battle their way out.

England, Berlin, Alexandria Are Blasted In Bomb Raids

(By Associated Press) LONDON, June 22.—Waves of German warplanes swooped over England early today for the third time in four days, scattered bombs along the east coast and killed three civilians before they were driven out to sea.

Three persons were wounded, the government reported.

Fierce anti-aircraft fire and quick action of British fighter planes appeared to have scattered the raiders and prevented them from concentrating on any objective. Numerous fires reddened the sky, but the air ministry said the damage was not extensive.

One eye-witness said the Germans had resorted to "hit and run" tactics.

Following the procedure adopted earlier in the week, the Nazi bombers began their attack shortly after midnight, and the thunder of anti-aircraft fire echoed along the coast until just before dawn.

BERLIN, June 22.—Seven persons were injured and buildings were damaged in the vicinity of Berlin today in the first air attack of the war on the Berlin region.

DNB, official German news agency, said the buildings hit included a hospital.

The French asserted without elaboration June 8 that naval bombers had raided factories in the Berlin suburbs. An authorized Berlin spokesman declared there was "absolutely no truth" to this French announcement.

Two civilians were injured slightly at Bremen by explosive and incendiary bombs, DNB said.

Two incendiary bombs which struck near the railway station in Babelsberg, a Berlin suburb, damaged a garage and automobiles and wrecked an automatic telephone system.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 22.—Italian bombers sprayed explosives over Alexandria's harbor early today in Italy's first attempt to blast the British and French fleet here, but no warships were hit and most of the bombs fell harmlessly into the sea.

Anti-aircraft guns of the British and French fleets went into action when the first group of tri-motored bombers appeared at 1:15 a. m. and British fighter planes went up.

(This dispatch indicated that at least part of the French fleet, whose whereabouts have been unreported since France requested an armistice with Germany and Italy, is still cooperating with the British and is based beside British warships in Alexandria.)

The Italians dropped a score of bombs in three appearances. One struck an Arab home near Moharrem bay and others demolished three homes at Chatby beach, a half-mile from the heart of the city.

Anti-aircraft fire and fighter planes forced the Italians to veer eastward along Alexandria's waterfront, where civilian casualties were reported. Details of the casualties were not given.

Hear Ludwig Plea For New Trial In Manslaughter Case

LISBON, June 22.—Arguments in the motion for a new trial for George Ludwig of Salem, found guilty of manslaughter in the court here last week for the slaying of Andrew Drotleff in Salem last July 22, were heard by Judge W. P. Jones Friday afternoon, and a decision in the matter deferred for the time being.

Defense counsel asked the motion on the grounds that the state had failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt, and that the verdict was contrary to law and the evidence submitted; also for "numerous errors of law occurring during the trial."

The prosecution cited several circumstantial evidence cases in Ohio law, in substantiating their case, and asked that the verdict be upheld.

Marshal Petain Sadly Tells France Why She Lost Fight

(By Associated Press)
BORDEAUX, France, June 21. — Old Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, France's premier of defeat, sadly told his people yesterday they had lost the fight to Germany because they had "fewer friends" than in 1914-18—"fewer young men, less arms, too few allies."

But he promised, in a radio broadcast: "We will learn our lesson from the lost battle." He blamed defeat on the lush years since the World war victory when "our sense of enjoyment predominated over our sense of sacrifice."

Explains Action

He explained why he had asked for peace.

"I took this decision," the old marshal of the World war declared in a radio broadcast to the nation, "because the military situation failed (to justify) our hopes based on the line of the Somme and the Aisne."

"General (Maxime) Weygand regrouped our armies. His name alone was a presage of victory."

However, the line gave way and enemy pressure forced our troops to retreat.

"On June 13 I asked for an armistice."

Contrasting the last war with this struggle, Petain said that at the beginning of the present battle France had 500,000 fewer troops than the 3,280,000 she had after three years of bloody fighting in the World war.

"In May, 1918," he went on, "we had 85 British divisions; in May, 1940, we had ten."
